ASK FOR REHEARING OF HEADLIGHT ORDER

Application for rehearing in the matter of the order of the corporation commission requiring the installation of powerful headlights on locomotives was filed yesterday by counsel for the Southern Pacific railroad. The order, which stipulates that all locomotives must be equipped with 1000 candle power headlights was issued on May 15, and is due to take effect today.

The complaint of the railroad in application for a rehearing states that headlights of the sort stipulated in the commission's order are not in general use throughout the country, that it is impossible to secure lights of this candlepower without the aid of a reflector, as prescribed in the order, and that the company is at present engaged in installing headlights of such power as to constitute to all intents and purposes a compliance with the order of the commission. The application asks that an extension of sixty days be granted to allow time for a rehearing in the matter.

PROSPECT OF WEALTH FOR VALLEY FARMERS

Our Eastern Markets For Various Vegetables.

With the idea of increasing tonnage in this community Traveling Freight Agent Sparks of the Arizona Eastern is agitating the matter of cultivating lettuce, spinach, cauliflower and green peas in this valley. Mr. Sparks has made a study on this subject and he is prepared to convince growers of the profitability of these crops if they are cultivated intelligently. There is a ready market for them in the eastern cities between the Christmas season and March 10. At other times of the year the shipment of them from this distance would not pay.

Mr. Sparks believes that the cultivation of these vegetables could be made a most important industry for this valley but until the market has been fully established he would not advise the undertaking of it on an extensive scale. Three acres devoted to these crops, he believes, would be sufficient in the beginning. Three acres should produce two carloads and a car ought to net the grower not less than $400. Ten cars of lettuce in such a market as New York, Chicago or Cincinnati would be about the same as ten crates in the Phoenix market.

These vegetables could be handled without a great deal of expense. They could be packed for shipment in ordinary cantaloupe crates.

Mr. Sparks would be pleased to meet the farmers and gardeners and give them the benefit of his investigations regarding varieties, time of planting, freight rates, refrigeration and shipping conditions. He believes that the greatest success would be attained by co-operation among growers, a standardization of crops, so that all produce delivered at the market would be uniform.

CONCRETE BRIDGE AT CANYON DIABLO

State Highway to Cross Famous
Gulch on Splendid New Structure of Modern Construction

A call for bids on the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge over Canyon Diablo in Coconino county will be issued within a short time by State Engineer Lamar Cobb. The new bridge, which will be a part of the new Santa Fe highway across the northern part of the state will be 126 feet in length, and of the most modern type of construction. Bids for concrete bridges over Milky and Beaver dam washes in Apache county will be received at the same time.

The "Devil's Canyon" as its name implies, is one of the most weird of the natural formations in the state, as well as one of the most precipitous gorges anywhere in the world. The scenery along its rim is unearthly in its magnificence, and is widely advertised by the Santa Fe as one of the many attractions for tourists in the Canyon country. The new bridge will cross the gulch a short distance south of the Santa Fe main line.

Scene from "The Perils of Pauline" at the Lion Theater today and tomorrow

AMUSEMENTS

A Capable Trio.

Lillie Walker and Willie Van of the Vitagraph picture forces are competent in anybody's company to make the blood run faster and the world seem brighter, but when to this duo bounding John Bunny, the funniest man in pictures, is added, the trio immediately becomes a world beater for fun. This is the whole secret of the success of the splendid three-reel comedy, "Love, Luck and Gasoline," that is now running at the Empress theater and which will be shown for the last time tonight. The picture is wonderful in more ways than one. Every sort of a vehicle that is propelled by gasoline is shown in the picture, being used in some form or other in telling the story. Then there is some of the most exciting and capable yacht handling ever seen pulled off right in front of the camera. It is worth while going to see the show.

"Perils of Pauline" at the Lion

Today, the Lion theater puts on the real big show, as the program embraces six reels of movies that are in every way first class. From "The Perils of Pauline," which is the headliner to Keystone comedy, "The Morning Paper," which is the closer, every film held attention. "The Perils of Pauline" contains many sensational features, among which is the rescue of Pauline from a burning house. It's a great picture. "The Wheels of Destiny," is a two-reel majestic drama, dealing with one of those Italian secret societies which exist in defiance of the law. It's a splendid offering. "Her Heritage," by the Beauty players and featuring Margarita Fischer, is a film that will hold the closest attention as it portrays a woman happily married, but has an inherited craving for strong drink. The acting and photography in this film are fine. In the Keystone comedy, "The Morning Paper" is a hearty laugh every minute and winds up, what Walter Leecraft of the Lion says, is about the biggest and best program ever presented in his house.

Airdome

The four pictures being shown at the Airdome tonight constitute one of the best picture programs that has ever been exhibited in this city. There is a two-reel Victor drama that is the last word in photography, plot and acting, a Nestor drama, "The Wheel of Fate" that is beautiful beyond description and two ridiculous comedies, "Hubby's New Coat" and "Baldy Belmont Finds a Society," that amply supply the demand for a budget of laughter in each program. Besides the splendid program it's sure to always be cool and comfortable at the Airdome. The entire show changes again Thursday night.

For Two Pins

If you had left home in a hurry and had forgotten to wear your valuable tie-pin, had started down town, been bumped into by a drunken man, and a moment later discovered that your pin was gone, you'd naturally believe the drunk had stolen it. This is exactly what the hero of the Lubin comedy, "For Two Pins," does. The Avenue is showing this clever comedy for the last time today. On the same bill is the two part Western drama, "The Bottled Spider," and a corking detective story, "The Mystery of the Amsterdam Diamonds."

The Regale

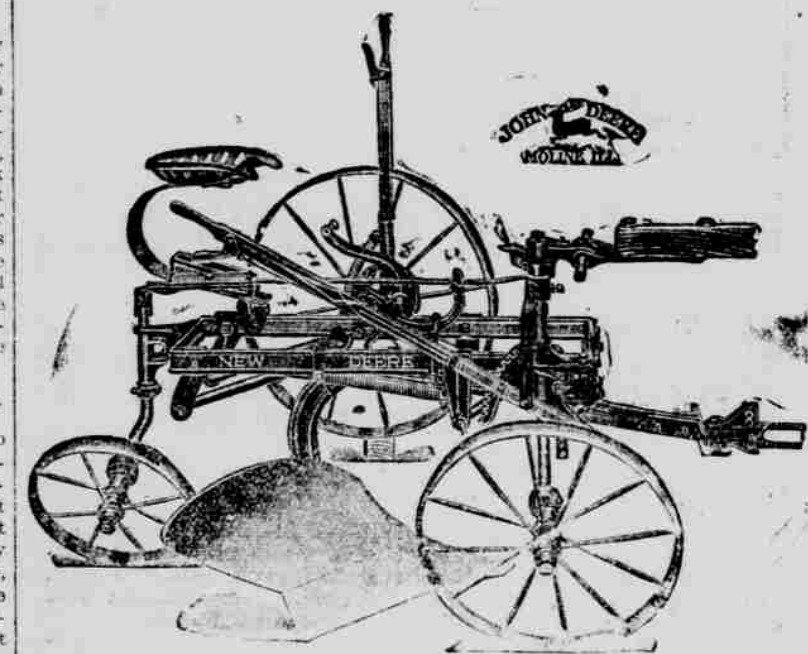

"For the Freedom of Cuba" a two reel "101" Bison drama of love and adventure, will be today's feature offering at the Regale Theater, 210-212 East Washington street. This is the first photo-play to feature Miss Essie Fay and her remarkable trained horse, "Arabia," since Miss Fay joined the Universal some weeks ago. The picture was made at the Pacific coast studios and the story is one of dash, daring and action that keeps the red-blooded corpses moving every minute of its unfolding. "Arabia," the horse with a human intellect, performs numerous surprising feats. He unties the ropes with which he is tethered and escapes to his mistress, Miss Fay. He does a dozen seemingly impossible feats at freeing himself. "For Old Love's Sake," a Victor drama, featuring Fritz Burnette and Glen White, is also on today's bill. "Patsy's Luck" a single Frontier comedy, will be the laughter affording feature of an exceptionally strong bill. The Regale is one of the coolest houses in town.

Columbia.

A typical summer program has been arranged by Manager Glass for the Columbia patrons this week, and while an "overshadowing" headliner is lacking, the whole makes up an offering which is good fun and just the sort of thing for hot weather.

While honors are fairly even, the
